

1. Reflections on your learning experience with Mr. Vishal Chhabra:

This semester, I had the opportunity to learn under Mr. Vishal Chhabra, and I can confidently say he's one of the most unique and impactful teachers I've ever met. From the very beginning, he focused on preparing us for something we all care about — our future placements. As a third-year student, this is exactly the phase where placement preparation becomes real, and sir guided us through it with immense clarity.

He didn't just teach us theory — he trained us practically. Through various activities and mock interviews, he showed us how to confidently handle HR questions, speak clearly, and structure our thoughts. One of the key things he taught was how every student is equal, and that we all have the potential to grow — we just need to take the first step and initiate. That truly changed my mindset. Earlier, I used to hesitate while speaking in front of my peers, but now, I feel much more confident.

2. Insights from your E-Portfolio development journey:

One of the most interesting and creative parts of this semester was working on the E-Portfolio. Sir gave us this task to make weekly video logs — and through those 10–12 videos, I was able to reflect on my growth, improve my speaking skills, and understand how to present myself professionally.

Each video topic he gave was meaningful — from soft skills, to interview prep, to personality development. Over time, I saw a big difference in how I communicated. I also learned that consistency and practice bring real results. This portfolio wasn't just about completing an assignment — it became a visual proof of my progress.

3. A summary of your overall experience throughout the semester:

Overall, this semester has been one of the most enriching parts of my college journey. It wasn't just about learning skills — it was about learning how to approach life. Mr. Vishal Chhabra shared his real-life experiences with us — he told us not to rely only on luck to get a job, but to keep putting our hands in different jars, because eventually, something will work. That line really stayed with me.

This entire journey — from speaking hesitantly to confidently presenting weekly logs — has been transformational. I'm grateful for the guidance, support, and unique teaching style of Vishal Chhabra sir. This semester didn't just prepare me for interviews — it prepared me for life.

Thank you.
